DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1, 6, 11, 19, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Asano et al (4,739,465).

Asano et al discloses a power supply controller circuit including a current input circuit (17,18,19) to generate an enable/disable signal when the current crosses a threshold having a hysteresis of greater than or equal to zero, and the power supply controller to activate and deactivate the power supply in response to the enable/disable signal (see figures 1, 6, 8).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 2838

4. Claims 2, 5, 7, 10, 20, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Asano et al (4,739,465) in view of Farr (5,784,232).

Asano et al meets all of the claim limitations except for the use of an oscillator circuit. Farr, however, teaches that the use of an oscillator circuit in the power supply circuit is well known in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have modified the driver circuit of Asano et al by utilizing oscillator circuit, as taught by Farr, in order to provide overcurrent protection in respond to current threshold level.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 25-28 are allowed.

6. Claims 3, 4, 8, 9, 21, and 22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
